

Tim Spittle

Current Employer or Company Information

10/2017–Current

Safety Manager • The Biltmore Company •

Tim Spittle is currently the Safety Manager for the Biltmore Company, he has served in that role since Oct. of 2017. His duties include investigating workplace incidents, OSHA compliance, as well as facilitating worker compensation claims and risk management for the company. He earned his Master's degree from Montreat College in 2009 in Management and Leadership.

Education/Certifications/Experience

Prior to his current position as Safety Manager he has served as a Sheriff's Office deputy and Police Officer since 1996 in a variety of agencies and capacities. He is still serves as a reserve sergeant with the Buncombe County Sheriff's office, where he heads up the Sex Offender verification squad. He also is a NC general and specialized instructor for firearms and active shooter response.

Tim lives near Asheville, NC where he grew up, and enjoys the WNC mountains and being outdoors. His hobbies include reading, and amateur road racing with the National Auto Sport Association. He is also a high performance driver instructor/coach with the National Auto Sport Association at tracks across the Southeast.

Class Title

Active Survival

Class Description

This class will discuss surviving workplace violence

Additional Comments

Certificate will be provided for this class.

1 N. Pack Square
Asheville, NC 28801

828-225-6762

tspittle@biltmore.com

